Born in Vancouver and raised in Nanaimo, British Columbia, Ingrid Jensen is widely regarded as one of the most gifted trumpeters of her generation. Jensen has performed with some of the top ensembles and artists in jazz including the Maria Schneider Orchestra, Terri Lyne Carrington and Helen Sung. As a soloist, she appears on the Christine Jensen Jazz Orchestra's award-winning recordings Treelines and Habitat.

Jensen is a founding member of the supergroup ARTEMIS and leads her own ensembles, earning a global following. Her recent recording, Landings, was released earlier this year and has received significant critical praise. In addition to performing, she serves on the Manhattan School of Music faculty.
